Alabama Diabetes Resource Directory

Introduction

This directory has been developed as a resource guide to provide contact information for programs offering diabetes education and support throughout Alabama. Also included is a listing of statewide assistance programs and organizations providing a variety of services. The directory serves as a vital tool and for convenience has been divided into three sections.

With the prevalence of diabetes steadily rising in Alabama, as well as the entire country, the provision of education, support and assistance is of the utmost importance.

Every attempt has been made to insure that the information within this resource directory is accurate. The document is not all inclusive. Those interested in being included within the directory should contact the Alabama Department of Public Health Diabetes Branch.

In Alabama, almost one in every 10 adults has been diagnosed with diabetes.

Diabetes in Alabama

According to a recent national survey, almost 1 in 10 adults in Alabama has been diagnosed with diabetes. Current estimates indicate that approximately 333,500 Alabamians have been diagnosed with diabetes and that as many as 200,000 more may have the condition and be unaware of it. The rate rose from 5.6 percent of adults in 1990 to 9.7 percent in 2005, a gain of over 70 percent over the period. Alabama now has the highest rate in all 50 states. Diabetes is the sixth leading cause of death in the state. The disease directly contributes to the incidence of heart disease and strokes, also leading causes of death, and is the primary cause of kidney failure, non-trauma related limb amputations and adult-onset blindness.

Adults with diabetes are 2 to 4 times more likely to die of heart disease or have a stroke than adults without diabetes. Left untreated or uncontrolled, diabetes can also lead to other complications, including nerve damage, dental disease, and pregnancy complications. Diabetes can directly cause acute life-threatening events, such as diabetic coma, and people with diabetes are more susceptible to many other illnesses, such as influenza and pneumonia.

Self-management of diabetes is the key to preventing complications. It is important that people living with diabetes learn how to manage the disease and maintain good health. This directory is intended to direct people living with diabetes to educational programs, support groups, and other resources that can help promote and sustain healthy behaviors that will help avert complications and improve the quality and length of life.
